Chapter VII. Methods to use the right to vote

The GMS decisions are made by open vote. Secret vote is mandatory for appointing and revoking the members of the Board of Directors, for appointing, revoking or dismissing the financial auditor and for making the decisions when holding responsible the members of the Board of Directors, the Directors (in the meaning of the Law no 31/1990) or the financial auditor.

The GMS may decide on the use of the secret vote in other situations as well.

The shareholders registered on the reference date may attend and vote in the GMS:

- directly (in person / by legal representative)
- by representatives, based on proxy or
- by correspondence.

Direct vote (in person) and the vote by proxy

These two voting methods can be used subsequent to the proof of the identity by the shareholder/ representative.

The direct vote, as well as the vote by proxy, during the meeting, can be expressed using the voting bulletins.

At the entry in the meeting room, along with their registration, the shareholders receive the voting bulletins (open and/ or secret vote, as applicable) for all the items on the agenda of the Convening Notice, which bear the stamp of the Company and comprise the following information:

- name and surname, the name of the shareholder respectively, in case of open vote bulletin;
- number of voting rights held by the respective shareholder on the reference date (according to the shareholders' register), in case of open vote bulletin and secret vote bulletin;
- item / items on the agenda of the Convening Notice, each item to have next to it the ticking boxes indicative of the voting right with the following options: "For", "Against" or "Abstain".

For each item on the agenda, the President running the meeting will announce the opening of the voting session for that specific item, when the shareholders are to proceed to fill in the related voting bulletin, by ticking on/ marking a single option: "For", "Against" or "Abstain".

General rules for the valid use of the voting bulletin:

- valid expressed vote – marking on a single voting option (“For”, “Against”, “Abstain”);
- non-expressed vote – no voting option is marked;
- void / annulled vote – marking more voting options (“For”, “Against”, “Abstain”).

The voting bulletins shall be filled in until the President running the meeting announces the closing of the voting session for that item.

When the voting session is closed for a particular item, the voting is no longer possible for that item.

The secretary body of the meeting with the support of the technical secretary body will collect the voting bulletins, validate them and then proceed to counting the votes.

The voting bulletins related to an item on the agenda may not be taken into account in the following cases:

- (i) comprise contradictory or confusing options;
- (ii) are illegible;
- (iii) are conditionally expressed.

Voting by correspondence

The votes expressed by valid voting bulletins by correspondence will be taken into account to determine the vote together with those expressed during the meeting by direct vote.

The voting bulletins by correspondence which comprise illegible, contradictory/ confusing or conditionally expressed voting options, will be taken into account for determining the presence quorum, but will not be considered in the calculation of the vote for the items on the agenda, where such vices arise.

The centralization, verification and keeping the record of the voting bulletins by correspondence will be made by the technical secretaries appointed according to the law, who are to keep safely the records, as well as the confidential character of the expressed votes, until the time of voting on the issues related to the items on the agenda.

In case the shareholder who expressed the vote by correspondence attends in person or by a representative in the GMS, the vote by correspondence expressed for that GMS is annulled. In such a case the only vote taken into account is the voting expressed in person or by a representative.

If the person who represents the shareholder attending the GMS in person is other than the one who expressed the vote by correspondence then, in the purpose of the validity of his/ her vote, the representative must present at the meeting a written revoking of the vote by correspondence, signed by the shareholder or by the representative who voted by correspondence.

This is not necessary if the shareholder or such legal representative is present at the GMS.

Chapter IX. General rules on conduct of the GMS meetings

On the day and time indicated in the Convening Notice, the meeting will be opened by the President of the Board of Directors or by the person appointed by him ("President running the meeting").

Unless the necessary quorum is met within 30 minutes after the hour indicated in the Convening Notice for the GMS (or any other period specified by the running President, but no less than 15 minutes and no longer than 2 hours) or if, during the GMS, the quorum is no longer met, the respective GMS will be held in a new convening.

The running President conducts and closes the meeting, ensures that all the items on the agenda are discussed, proceeds to submitting to vote the draft resolutions arising from the debates and signs the minutes of the GMS.

The GMS will appoint a secretary, from among the present shareholders, in order to check the presence list and the minutes of the meeting, according to the law.

The running President shall appoint, from the employees of the Company, a technical secretary, to take part in the execution of the operations above indicated.

Each shareholder may enroll to take the floor in the debates during the GMS meeting by raising the hand only in connection with the subject matters of the items on the agenda.

In order to have the statements or the vote of a shareholder specifically noted down on the GMS minutes, such shareholder should specifically request this.

For the correct records in the minutes of the meeting, any shareholder speaking must specify the full name.

In order to provide for all the interested shareholders the possibility to take the floor in the meeting, each shareholder must limit his/her speech to maximum 3 minutes. If such limit is exceeded, the running President can request the respective shareholder to discontinue the speech.

President of the Board of Directors,

Eng.
